WELCOME TO THE CONFERENCE

ECCP – European Conference on thermally and electrically Conductive Polymers and composites: from lab to market – 2ND EDITION

23rd October – Turin

The Conference offers advanced knowledge and business contacts to industry, science and professionals who are looking for innovative solutions in the Conductive Polymers area.

The Conference is focused on a Technology Readiness Level ("TRL") higher than other conferences, with presentations of technical solutions that are ready, or almost ready, to be introduced in the market. For this reason, we expect to involve industries and SMEs, in addition to research centres and universities. In this way, the conference should be the chance also to meet industrial partners and RTDs for business opportunities and to create new partnerships for collaborative projects.
