

17TH JULY 2018 MONITORING & SURVEILLANCE OF THE MARINE ENVIRONMENT

Find out about the use of Earth Observation technologies in the monitoring of ecosystems, human activities and surveillance of pollution and other environmental factors.

Learn about the mapping of sea grass, algal blooms and coral bleaching, the monitoring & surveillance of maritime traffic and identification of pollution, maritime discharges and other activities. Listen to case studies and find out about opportunities for businesses.

This event is hosted by Pôle Mer Méditerranée and will take place in Ollioules, France. 17th July 2018, 14.00 – 17.00 CET (13.00-16.00 BST) and online via webinar. Book your place now

<https://tinyurl.com/ybbthdyy>

SpaceWave

Other workshops in the series on Earth Observation opportunities in Blue Growth include:

The monitoring and surveillance of sea fisheries with case studies, July 9th, 11.30-13.30 CET, Harwell, UK. Book here

<https://tinyurl.com/ya5hfo57>

The monitoring and support of food from Aquaculture with case studies. July 9th, 15.00-18.00 CET. Book here

<https://tinyurl.com/y9mgvusb>

Using earth observation technologies to monitor water-level rises and coastal erosion with Mekong river case study. 17th July, 10.00-12.30 CET France. Book here

<https://tinyurl.com/ycjdl2sk>

ATTEND IN PERSON OR JOIN US ONLINE VIA WEBINAR FOR ONE OR ALL OF THESE WORKSHOPS LOOKING AT THE USE OF EARTH OBSERVATION TECHNOLOGIES TO ASSIST BUSINESSES IN VARIOUS BLUE GROWTH SECTORS